

Light Switched Receptacles

One of the switches will control the top receptacles on the wall with two electrical outlets placed on either side of where your bed would be or in your living room next to where a couch/table would be positioned

These outlets are run on switched receptacles and the top receptacle functions on the above light switch

Please note that your living rooms and bedrooms come equipped with switched receptacles in which this means that the top receptacle is powered by a light switch. This is meant for a table/stand lamp or light fixture. In order for the top outlet to work, the light switch needs to be in the “on” position. The bottom receptacle will work regardless of the switch being in the “on or off” position.
